

Handbook of Research on Students' Research Competence in Modern Educational Contexts

Part of the Advances in Educational Technologies and Instructional Design Book Series

Vardan Mkrttchian (HHH University, Australia) and Lubov Belyanina (Astrakhan State University, Russia)

Description:

While there are many ways to collect information, students have trouble understanding how to employ various research methods effectively, since everyone learns and processes information differently. Instructing students on successfully using research methods is a continual challenge in education.

The Handbook of Research on Students' Research Competence in Modern Educational Contexts is a scholarly resource that examines the critical analysis of the development of research competence in students. Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics, such as educational technologies, cognitive interest, and research capacity, this book is geared towards academicians, researchers, and students seeking current research on the development of research competence.
