

Innovative Perspectives on Public Administration in the Digital Age

Part of the Advances in Electronic Government, Digital Divide, and Regional Development Book Series

Aroon P. Manoharan (University of Massachusetts – Boston, USA) and James McQuiston (Kent State University, USA)

Description:

As governments worldwide are entering the digital age, there are increasing expectations from citizens and stakeholders for a more responsive, efficient, and open government. Innovations in information technology and web technologies can facilitate these changes.

Innovative Perspectives on Public Administration in the Digital Age is a critical scholarly resource that examines the prevalence of e-government and the advancements of information systems to facilitate a government that is more open and accessible to citizens and businesses. Highlighting coverage on a broad range of topics such as online civic engagement, e-petition, and privacy and security, this publication is geared toward academicians, practitioners, and government officials seeking current and relevant research on the use of online and technological systems for the advancement of government and public policy.
