Handbook of Research on Promoting Higher-Order Skills and Global Competencies in Life and Work

Part of the Advances in Higher Education and Professional Development Book Series

Jared Keengwe (University of North Dakota, USA) and Robert Byamukama (Nkumba University, Uganda & Makerere University, Uganda)

Description:

Global awareness and competency has become an essential part of higher education and professional development. Expanding beyond the traditional ideas of learning and education, it is important to provide research that will help students prepare for the global future.

The Handbook of Research on Promoting Higher-Order Skills and Global Competencies in Life and Work is a pivotal reference source that provides vital research on the intersection of life and work skills in higher education and professional development. While highlighting topics such as research engagement, learning assessment, and multicultural competence, this publication explores the preparation of twenty-first century learners, as well as the methods of promoting critical and creative thinking. This book is ideally designed for educators, academicians, education administrators, researchers, and upper-level students seeking current research on global knowledge and skills in contemporary education and organizations.
