Handbook of Research on Adult and Community Health Education: Tools, Trends, and Methodologies

Part of the Advances in Human Services and Public Health Book Series

Victor C. X. Wang
(Florida Atlantic University, USA)

Medical breakthroughs and adult literacy have made it easier than ever before to acquire the knowledge, skills, and values needed to lead a productive and satisfying life, yet many Americans have difficulty understanding and acting upon the health information they acquire.

The Handbook of Research on Adult and Community Health Education: Tools, Trends, and Methodologies presents educational and social science perspectives on the state of the healthcare industry and the information technologies surrounding it. It presents a compilation of some of the latest research on methods, programs, and procedures practiced by health literate societies. This groundbreaking two-volume set provides cutting-edge content for researchers, social scientists, academicians, and adult educators and learners interested in how available technologies affect our health today.

Topics Covered:

- Child Grief Assistance
- Clinical Depression Learning
- Disease Management and Telenursing
- Empathy Politics
- Family Medicine Self-Directed Learning
- Health-Impact Assessment
- Long-Term Health Management
- Rural Health Literacy
- Self-Efficacy and Anxiety
- Student Nurse Simulation Training
