Handbook of Research on Urban Governance and Management in the Developing World

Part of the Advances in Electronic Government, Digital Divide, and Regional Development Book Series

Joshua Mugambwa (Makerere University, Uganda) and Mesharch W. Katusiimeh (Makerere University, Uganda)

Description:
With the emphasis on market-led development initiatives, sustainable urbanization is a challenge, especially in growing nations. Regional administrative efforts are crucial for cities to meet the planned city operations and specific targets and objectives.

The Handbook of Research on Urban Governance and Management in the Developing World is a research publication that explores contemporary issues in regional political and administrative practices and key challenges in implementing these strategies in growing nations. Featuring coverage on a wide range of topics such as urban and regional economics, supply chain management, and environmental concerns, this book is geared toward city development planners, policy makers, researchers, academics, and students seeking current and relevant research on the regional bureaucracy and its practices and how they affect growing nations.
