

Biomaterials Research and Engineering (IJBRE)

ISSN: 1947-3575; EISSN: 1947-3583

Established 2011; Published Semi-Annually

Editor(s)-in-Chief: Keshav Deo Verma (S.V. (P.G.) College, India)

IJBRE discusses all aspects of scientific and technological advancements in the field of biomaterials, medical, biological, and nanoscale sciences. This journal incorporates developments in mathematical sciences enabling the development of new materials and biological engineering design inspired by or in the context of biology and designs for all scales that include micro- to nano- levels. This journal publishes original articles, reviews, technical reports, patent alerts, and case studies on the latest innovative findings of new methodologies, technologies, and products.

Topics Covered:

- Advanced functional materials
- Artificial organs and tissues
- Bioengineering materials
- Biological materials
- Bio-nanomaterials and nanotechnology
- Medical devices
- Microscopy and materials characterization techniques
- Modeling of behavior of biomaterials
- Novel applications of biomaterials
- Processes for biomaterials synthesis
- Tissue engineering
